

Imagine a more prosperous America that is less reliant on foreign sources of energy. In Congress, I continue to fight for common sense solutions to meet our future energy needs. A balanced approach that expands energy exploration can help fuel our economic engine, and opportunities to utilize alternative and renewable energy sources reflect the reality that we need to continue American prosperity with cutting edge technology and environmental advances.

{loadposition related}